PROJECT EXPERIENCE

E-Commerce User Retention Analytics & Product Strategy

July 2026 - Present

Independent Project | Python, pandas, scikit-learn

- Analyze e-commerce transaction data in Python, comparing one-time buyers against repeat customers and engineer customer-level features explaining why retention breaks down.
- Build and validate a logistic-regression model to identify the behaviors most predictive of repeat purchase, then size the opportunity within each customer segment.
- Translate findings into a two-page product requirements document and five-slide executive deck ranking retention initiatives by expected impact against implementation cost, with success metrics for each.
